It will be remembered that on April 3, John Nanburg entered the roaster of the B&M smelter, at Great Falls, to make some needed repairs and nothing more was seen of him from that time until Sunday the 23d, when his calcined bones were found in the main flue forty feet from where he entered. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that the man came to his death by accident caused by his own carelessness.

Voter registrations can be a good source of genealogical information, but if you've looked for them, you will find the earliest ones are missing. John Birkholz, the head of our research department, found this article in the Great Falls Tribune that gives some of the reasons for the missing files.

COUNTY REGISTRATION LIST DESTRUCTION IS COMPLETED

Only Obsolete 'Great Register' Is Retained; Clerks and Recorders in Other Counties Have Until June 5 to Finish Task

Destruction of the Cascade county registration records was completed Wednesday, thereby nullifying signatures obtained on referendum petitions now in circulation but not checked, it was learned Wednesday from county officials and attorneys. Reregistration of the voters is now proceeding.

The destruction of the records was authorized by an act of the last legislative assembly, but the destruction work was more complete than was initially indicated. Some county clerks and recorders in Montana have not commenced the destruction work as the law provides that this may be done at any time between June 1 and 6, and a few clerks and recorders cut the destruction work due to the institution of legal proceedings.

In Cascade county, however, the destruction work has for all intents and purposes been completed. Under opinions, clerks were advised that they might keep the so-called "great register" of voters.

Retention of this register here has no significance, it was learned, as this "great register" has not been kept since 1911. In July of that year, the policy of having registration cards was placed in effect and no further attempt was made to keep up the "great register."

This fact, it was further explained, means that all registration records since 1911 have been destroyed. This includes the registration cards, poll and voting books, including those used at the last general election, and other materials.

At the time of the destruction of the records here and in a few other counties, petitions were being circulated to submit two measures passed by the 1937 legislature before the voters at the next election. The measures were so-called SB 65, which gave the governor wider powers and permitted removal of employees of the state, and SB 71, which relates to the Montana liquor control board.

Signatures on the petitions, which have not been checked, cannot be checked now as the registration records have been destroyed, it was stated. This in effect nullifies the circulation of the unchecked petitions and will also render the movements to submit the measures to the voters ineffective as little probability exists of sufficient signatures being obtained and verified before the time for filing of referendum measures expires.

The latter fact is indicated by the present registration in Cascade county, whereas on the morning of June 1 there were more than 18,000 voters.
